Support on life's journey

Railway Mission

“They were there
when I needed support”

“Robin was a station manager whose life journey had hit some ups and downs. We were there to show some care, listen and help straighten out his life.”

We are Railway Mission, a group of specially trained people who offer friendship and a listening ear to anyone connected with our nation's railways. We're a Christian charity offering support to everyone.

How do we help?

Like viaducts we've offered support for over 100 years, but we're totally up-to-date with the trials of modern living. We help railway staff (at all levels) and the travelling public enjoy the good times and get through the bad times.

So if life's journey feels threatened we offer face-to-face friendship and an opportunity to talk about problems and explore solutions.

We're also on hand to help staff and the public in the event of rail incidents including suicides.

Help us to support them

Railway Mission relies on donations to finance our work and meet an ever-growing need for our services. While we receive some rail industry support, we depend on the generosity of individuals like you.

Please give something so that we can give a helping hand to those who need us.

Donations

There are various ways to give. Visit railwaymission.org/giving for more information.
